SHADED ZONE X (0.2 PCT ANNUAL CHANCE FLOOD HAZARD)

Zone A

The Commissioners' Court of Fayette County, Texas, has adopted Flood Damage Prevention Regulations to minimize public and private foot losses due to flooding. These regulations govern all development in the unincorporated areas of Fayette County, Texas, including Zone A and Zone AE on the Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM) - the map which the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has delineated special hazard areas. Although all development in the unincorporated areas require development permits, Fayette County does not have specific regulations pertaining to Shaded Zone X (0.2 pct Annual Chance Flood Hazard).

July 2016. The information on the map has been compiled by Fayette County staff from a variety of sources and is subject to change without notice. Fayette County makes no claims, guarantees, or promises about the accuracy or completeness of this data and explicitly disclaims accountability for any errors or omissions.
